

Story of St. Carlo Acutis

Born in London, in 1991, Carlo loved football, Pokémon, action films, and all animals (he had four dogs, two cats and many goldfish as pets). But from early childhood, his first love was Our Lord in the Eucharist. Neither of his parents were religious, yet from an early age Carlo never wanted to pass a church without going in to “say ‘hello’ to Jesus.” Because of this his mother came back to faith, then his father.

Carlo received his First Holy Communion early, at his own request, in a local convent. His love, appreciation and reverence for the Eucharist were exceptional and he would often say: “The Eucharist is my highway to Heaven!” Carlo began visiting Eucharistic miracles all over the world from age 11, and documenting them.

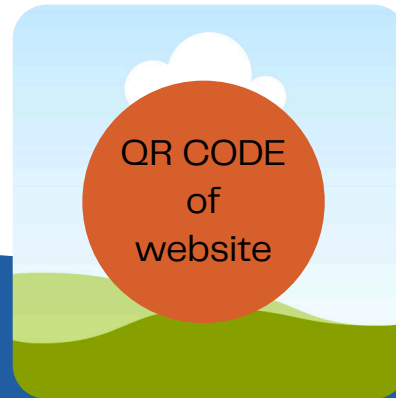

A computer whizz by age fourteen he had created a Eucharistic Miracle display that would tour the world, along with his website. He believed that if people knew that Jesus was truly in the Eucharist, they would turn to God.

Carlo hated to be enslaved by anything, so although he loved computer games, he allowed himself to play for only one hour a week, and gave the rest of his time to good works helping children, the elderly, and the poor. He was popular at school, but also befriended children who were unhappy at home. He defended the disabled, and treated girls with a respect.

He would also defend his Catholic faith — including his pro-life views — fearlessly in class. In early October, 2006, Carlo became ill with flu — so it was thought. He was admitted to hospital, receiving the terrible diagnosis of fulminant leukemia.

The fifteen-year-old boy who loved to laugh had a few days to live. Carlo took the news calmly, immediately offering all his sufferings for the Pope and the Church. “I am happy to die,” he said, “because I have lived my life without wasting a minute on those things which do not please God.”
